

Directions for Use of This Activity

Dear Classroom Teachers:

This handout is an idea sheet for parents to review before their child enters kindergarten. It speaks to building a partnership between the child's teacher and the family to work together to help the child grow and learn.

building trust joining hands on to kindergarten

You, as a parent, will continue to be your child's first and most important teacher. Now you are joining hands in a partnership with the kindergarten teacher and the school community. You will work together to help your child grow and learn.

- Prepare your child by spending time talking and listening.
- Discover ways you can support your child's learning at home.
- Be your child's best advocate and support.
- Find and create ways to make the first days comfortable.
- Build a relationship with your child's teachers. It is one of the most important things you can do to help your child be successful.
- Know what the school expects of your child and your family.
- Let the school staff know the needs of your child and your family.
- Become a part of the school life and trust that your voice is important.

No Matter what your education, cultural heritage or home language is, you can make a difference in your child's school success.
